#1 Heartwarming movie "CODA"

I was very impressed when I saw the scene where the deaf family enjoyed working with fishermen who had no hearing problems. I can imagine it's very difficult for deaf families to get their new business back on track.

In the latter half of the movie, there were so many moving scenes. The scene in which all four family members look at a computer display to confirm the successful application of Berklee College of Music evoked the same tension as when I checked the results of the U.S. CPA Exam more than a decade ago.

CODA is one of the most fabulous movies I've ever seen.
